The founder of Empower2Play organization, AK Ikwuakor will meet Phillips Exeter Academy students, in an event aiming on showing how to progress personally through goodwill.

On February 19th, 2016 AK Ikwuakor, founder and executive director of Empower2Play, will be hosting a speaking engagement at Philips Exeter Academy. At the event Coach AK will talk about the impact of his nonprofit organization and the beneficial effects of sports on children's education and overall development. The speech will also include information and insights on Empower2Play Student Ambassador Program. Philips Exeter Academy event will feature a luncheon, where students will have the chance to personally talk to Coach AK, regarding the opportunity of becoming part of the organization. Later on in the evening, Coach AK will facilitate an interactive workshop on helping students with their college recruiting process. The assemble talk will start at 9:50 AM at the Assembly Hall of Phillips Exeter Academy. Event will be live streamed at <https://exeter.gameonstream.com>.

"I believe everyone on this planet has the ability to do amazing things, the problem is we let the inner chatter paralyze us from making an impact on the world." - AK Ikwuakor, Empower2Play Executive Director and Founder. As an experienced entrepreneur, athlete and educator, Coach AK will share strategies on overcoming fear and conquer the inner-chatter on the path to success. His organization Empower2Play uses sports as a tool to identify high-achieving students living in international under-resourced communities through introducing unfamiliar sports. The organization also provides scholarships and resources for children to reach their aspired profession.

Philips Exeter Academy is a co-educational residential independent school serving students grades 9 through 12, and post-graduate level. The school is listed among the top boarding schools in the United States, and is home to notable alumni as Mark Zuckerberg and Dan Brown. Philips Exeter Academy is known for its "think, discuss, question and analyze" methods of educating and combining knowledge with goodness.
